

State Jails Too Many Offenders, He Claims

Capitol News Service
 SACRAMENTO — Richard A. McGee, who will retire this fall as administrator of the state youth and adult corrections agency, has recommended that fewer criminals in California be kept in prison and that community-based programs for their rehabilitation be stepped up greatly.

"We are putting too many people in correctional institutions and keeping them there too long," McGee said, in presenting a report on organization of the state correctional services in the control and treatment of crime and delinquency.

McGee said that 44 per cent of the identified offender population in California is incarcerated, while the national average is only about 33 per cent. He said fewer offenders should be committed to institutions, and on a careful, selective basis.

THE recommendations called for in McGee's report would shift a great deal of the cost for controlling criminals from the state to the local level. He said a broad tax reform would be required to provide the financing for this for the cities and counties.

Even if the shift from state institutions to local custody is not accomplished, McGee said the state's subsidy for local probation programs should be "vastly expanded"

Area Home Ransacked By Thief

A thief ransacked the home of Harold Gillette, 22932 Adolph Ave., and carried away $520 in jewelry and appliances.

A television worth $110 and a $300 ring were taken along with some cash in the Wednesday robbery.

The victim reported that the burglar went through drawers and closets in the home but did not take any other appliances other than the television.

College Appoints New Dean

Kermit Dale, assistant dean of instruction at Valley College in Van Nuys, has been named the new dean of instruction at Harbor College. The announcement was made this week by Wendell C. Black, president of Harbor College.

He replaces Dr. John A. Graham, who takes over the post of president of the new Los Angeles Southwest College, which will open this fall.

Dale, who was a 1949 pioneer at Valley, will take over his new post Wednesday. During his 18 years on the Van Nuys campus, he served as an instructor in the mathematics department, coordinator of student activities, and assistant dean of students. He was also acting dean of educational services, acting dean of admissions, and served in his present post of assistant dean of instruction for four and one-half years.

DALE SERVED as chairman of the Valley College Faculty Association, chairman of the Affiliated College Faculty Association, and is a member of the Los Angeles Association of Junior College Administrators.

He received his bachelor's degree in math from Arizona State University, and his master's degree in math from the University of Arizona.

Dale lives in Van Nuys with his wife, Edith Louise, and his two daughters, Marian and Barbara.
